He went to grade school and completed the 8th grade. He began his working career at an early age, working and living at a ranch as a ranch hand and cowboy.

In 1980, he moved to Oklahoma. From there, he relocated to Gordon and then Minatare, where he worked for 14 years at a feedlot. His next move was to Colorado, where he remained until 2010. He then bought a house in Exeter, Nebraska, and lived there until his passing.

His dog, Bear, meant the world to him, and he was heartbroken when he passed away in 2012.

Dennis was married to Charlene Rose Howard of Gering, Nebraska, on August 21, 1964, and to them 7 children were born.
