When he was younger he enjoyed raising numerous animals including; cows, pigs, chickens, ducks and a horse. “ Many years ago Charlie and Brint Lemke were racing cars together. Their car was having vapor lock problems with the motor so on race day, with the help of Everett, Charlie and Brint took the motor from Charlie's car and dropped it into the race car. The boys were having a really hard time so Everett stepped in and helped the boys get it done in time to head for the races. Everett was always really kind to me and treated me better than my own in-laws did. He was kind to everyone but also told you exactly what was on his mind.
