Jodi graduated from Alamosa High School in Colorado and went on to earn her Bachelor and Master's degrees from the University of Nebraska Lincoln. She also earned her MBA from Concordia University.

She held several positions with the Cornhusker Hotel early in her career as well as the Embassy Suites in Omaha. “ I got to work closely with Jodi while she was in charge of marketing for the graduate programs at Concordia University, Nebraska, and I was always impressed with her expertise! She and I got to ride together to and from Omaha while marketing programs, and I enjoyed hearing her ideas and insights. Not only was she very detail-oriented and organized, but she had definite vision about how to present to the world what Concordia is. Very gifted....She taught me a lot, and I am grateful. My sincerest condolences to her family.
